

Fantasy Adventure

Last Friday afternoon, I was having a science experiment with my group mates, Wendy and Tacy. Everything was supposed to be finished and we started to clean up, but a glass of liquid bubbled over accidentally. A smell of citrus surrounded us and we fell asleep for a while.

'Wake up...Wake up!' Tracy shouted. 'We've turned 5 centimetres tall! What a disaster!'

I opened my eyes and looked at the things around us. Everything became very large and weird. Oh no! 'Is it the liquid that made us change into this size?' I whispered.

'Maybe yes...' said Wendy.

'Then, what should we do now? It's almost the end of the lesson!'

'Well, let's go find that liquid. It may turn us back to normal.' I suggested.

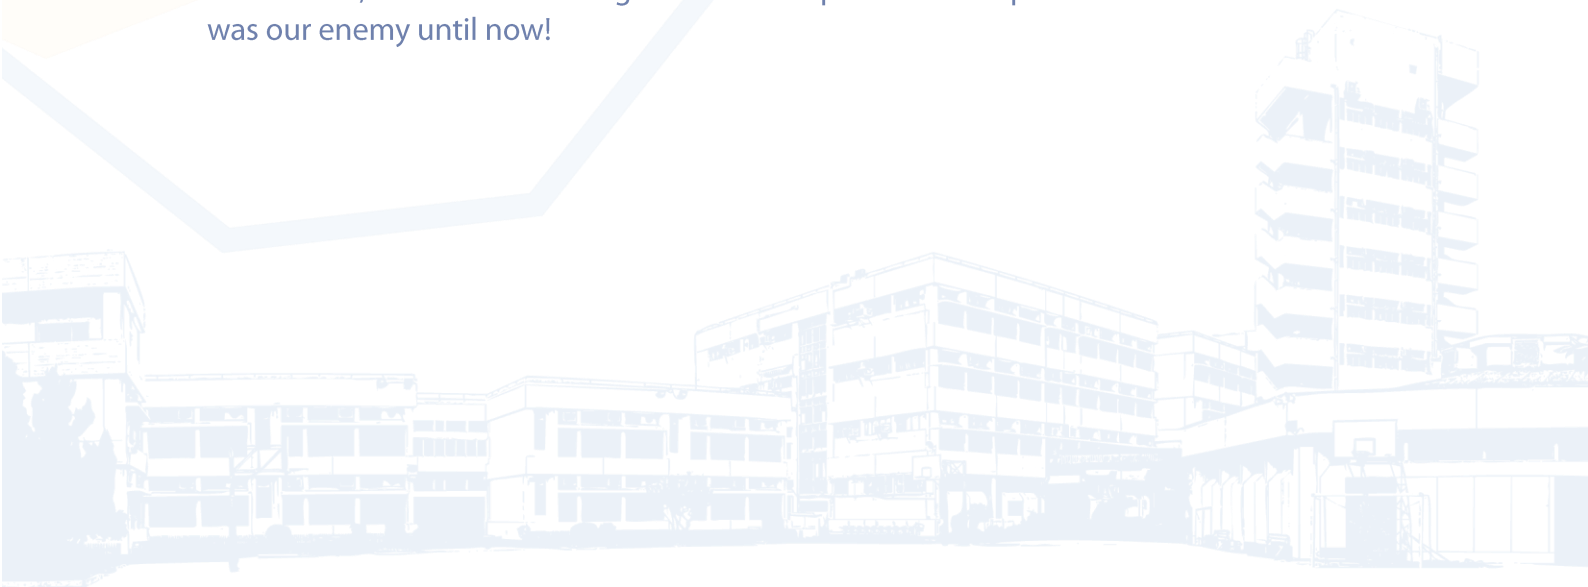

They both agreed and we started our super duper thrilling adventure!

Since we were near the storage room, we went inside to find something to use as our transport first, but the distance was too long, and we needed around 15 minutes to get into the room. Inside the creepy and horrifying storage room, we saw something familiar. Oh yes! They're the rats we had been observing in the experiment last month! We got on a rat and used a piece of cheese to drive it forward. This rat then became our transportation. Soon, we rode the rat back to the science laboratory, and we saw a giant moving slowly in front of us. She was our Science teacher Miss Lam! She walked towards us and grabbed our rat! My brain was stuck in the abyss! 'What should I do? Will I die?'

We got off the rat and shouted at Miss Lam as loud as we could, 'Miss Lam, help us. We smelt the liquid and we turned into this size!'

Miss Lam stared at us with a weird smile. She said some mysterious words to us, 'As the light fades, you guys will never turn back into your normal size.'

At this time, we still didn't recognise what she put into the liquid! We did not realise she was our enemy until now!

I thought this place would be dangerous so I ran as fast as I could. I discovered a droplet of that strange liquid. I tasted it, but nothing happened!

Look at the window. It was the eve of night! 'Tap...tap...tap...tap...' A mysterious black cat with neon orange eyes walked to me. Then, something strange happened. It talked!

'What a poor little girl. Let me cast magic on you and those 2 girls! Vivid diva boom!' It shouted the magic spell and recalled my memory — it was the cat I fed before! Tears dropped as pearls.

'Thank you, little kitty!' And the three of us turned back to normal instantly!

What an unbelievable fantasy adventure!
